
Subject: Re: can't get _cm_popupReturn to execute
Posted by ikatz on Tue, 15 Jan 2008 19:04:58 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

OK I am looking into that now. I was using the debugger before, but it seems that it was stopping when the popup page's execution got to the HTTP redirect. Now that I'm using the right setting, I'll see what else I can learn about this issue.

In the meantime, where is the best place to put my first breakpoint (i.e., where does the core framework finish loading/initializing and turn over control to one of my classes)?
