Is it possible somehow to override this sort sequence.

I wanted to be able to produce a couple of different reports from the same LIST1 screen that would need to be sorted in a different order.

I originally expected the $sql_orderby in the main calling output2 script to do this but you are confirming that this is not the case.