Yes, you understood right that I actually want to filter the records of the inner table. If I understand you right, it would be best to call a list1 pattern of the inner table and modify the $where clause in the `_cm_pre_getData()` method with the chosen filter values of the outer table.

As far as I see, I get the filter values in the `_cm_initialize()` method and in the `_cm_pre_getData()` method I see all the primary key values. I will try this.
