If you read the manual at <http://www.php.net/manual/en/ref.xslt.php> you will see that this extension is not part of core PHP, so has to be configured in expressly. So does the DOM XML extension.

If you are installing on Windows then all you have to do is remove the ';' character in front of the 'extension=php_domxml.dll' and 'extension=php_xslt.dll' lines in your php.ini file.
