I found my simple mistake. Even though I had marked the file upload button as "preselect" in the menu system, uploading doesn't require a selected record. So in my list1 transaction, I hit the upload button with nothing selected and it didn't complain -- it just proceeded with an empty fieldarray. I should have expected that.

I moved the button into an list2, and it seems to be working fine (as well as eliminating the confusion over the preselect option). I'd imagine that it would also work in an enq1 situation.
