Subject: Help text task_id

I'm trying my hand at building some help screens and I've noticed that the help screens display a default text of "Help text for <task_id>" at the top of the main body.

I have used the language facilities to display proper task descriptions on the screens, but can't figure out how I would change the default behaviour at the top of the help screens to show the task description rather than the task_id.

Is this possible?
