Tony,

I'm having a problem on returning from help screens within my app. When I use the browser's back button to return from a help screen I am being logged out of the application (I get a logoff screen prompting me to log back in).

When I use your apps (e.g. the menu app) it works fine.

Debugging isn't helping at the moment as the debugger completes its activity once the help screen is displayed. The problem then occurs pressing the browser's back button. It's obviously something I have done, but don't know where to start looking. Can you give me some pointers?
