I'm using Internet Explorer 8. After you asked me I tried using Safari too. I get different results, but they are both wrong.

Using the menu system everything works perfectly in both browsers.

In my application using Safari:
I can go to a screen and toggle backwards and forwards between the screen and the help screen. When I then go to a different screen I am logged out.

In my application using IE8:
I can go to a screen and then to the help screen, but when I try and return to the app screen I am logged out.

I got a bit further with the debugger but wasn't able to follow your code with reference to session initialisation to determine where it is going wrong.

Which browser settings are you referring to?
