Well...
That fixes the problem of being able to create a new hosting account. However, I'm afraid I've discovered another problem now:
I created a new account to test the fix, and find that now it cannot be deleted. The delete dialog runs ok, but on pressing submit you are returned to the list screen and the account has not been deleted.

I think these bugs were introduced a couple of versions ago actually. I found a backup of std.table.class.inc dated April, and the code in this area is slightly different.
