Subject: Re: Formatting in _cm_listView_header() method
Posted by AJM on Fri, 22 Jan 2010 16:38:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You are confusing me now because your earlier problem was with the formatting of dates.

If you want to stop a ValRep field from being automatically changed into its representation then you need to amend the contents of the $fieldspec entry so that the formatData() method does not overwrite the field value with the external representation.

If you need to work with both the value and the representation you should put two separate fields into the row data before any formatting or custom processing is performed.