DateTime::__construct() is only ever called when the user's timezone is different from the server timezone.

After setting $GLOBALS['date_format'] to 'dd/mm/yy' and creating a new user on 30-06-2010 I played around with various updates to see what happened. I could never get it to abort, but I did get some invalid dates. See if the update in the attached file fixes your problem.

What version of PHP are you using? What timezones?
