Subject: menu controls separately per subsystem
Posted by semcycle on Mon, 09 Oct 2006 00:24:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I would like to see the ability to apply the menu controls (maintain menu controls screen) individually per subsystem rather than across the board for the entire development environment. With that in place you could develop and maintain several apps using just one menu, dict and workflow database.