What sql did you use to add the new column?

Did you import then export the changed table definition to recreate the dict_column.dict.inc file?

You really should learn how to build and then modify your own tasks and screens before yoiu start amending any core components.

Answers:

1) See What debugging aids exist in this framework? You should also try using a proper interactive debugger instead of just putting breakpoints where you think the error might be.

2) I have no plans to rename any methods.

3) See How do you deal with task-specific behaviour?

4) You do not edit $this->fieldspec in the screen.inc file. Use the _cm_changeConfig() method instead.
