Tony,

In
http://www.tonymarston.net/sample/pers_type_add.php
and
http://www.tonymarston.net/sample/pers_type_search.php
http://www.tonymarston.net/sample/pers_type_enq.php
http://www.tonymarston.net/sample/pers_type_upd.php
http://www.tonymarston.net/sample/pers_type_del.php
the <colgroup> and <col> elements imply a column count of 1 but the table rows are two columns wide.

Lines 45-45
<colgroup>
    <col width="150" />
</colgroup>

There is a missing <col width="150" /> line (or 250, or any number you want).

These pages of sample v3.0.2 contain similar errors:
http://www.tonymarston.net/sample/option_add.php
http://www.tonymarston.net/sample/tree_type_add.php
(and almost certainly others of the same family)

It is interesting, because these pages:
http://www.tonymarston.net/sample/person_add.php
http://www.tonymarston.net/sample/person_search.php have more complex layouts, with more than two columns, but do not contain that error.

Thanks.
