I have defined Spanish(Ecuador) [es_EC] as default language in Radicore, our default decimal separator is comma.
When I work with input screens the framework ask for decimal numbers with comma, but when I need to update those fields, it is displayed with point, and it's necessary to check and update every decimal number on screen.
What I want to do is work always with point, despite my default language, I want the decimal number works with a point. Can I do that?
You can find an attached file as example.
