Subject: Re: Error running output2 pattern
Posted by AJM on Wed, 13 Aug 2014 10:28:11 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You don't need to step through any of the code which actually produces the PDF document because the problem is being caused by something being written to the output stream BEFORE that point. You need to turn on output buffering then check the output from ob_get_length() as you step through your code. The length should remain at zero at all times until the PDF output is produced.