Sorry i didnÂ´t explain my question correctly.

We can use "A hyperlink around an image.
The image-hyperlink control can be used in order to display a small version of an image (often known as a thumbnail) which is a hyperlink to the full-sized image. Using the Data Dictionary the details for the field can be specified as follows:

```
$fieldspec['image_path']        = array('type' => 'string',
                                'size' => 40,
                                'subtype' => 'image',
                                'imagewidth' => 75,
                                'imageheight' => 95,
                                'control' => 'imagehyper');
```

When this image is displayed in the form it will use the dimensions specified in imagewidth and imageheight. By clicking anywhere in the image this will activate the hyperlink and display the full size image."

I want to display the full size image in a new tab not at the same.

I will appreciate your comments or advices

Thank you an advance

Best regards
