Subject: Re: Open a new window from RADICORE
Posted by AJM on Wed, 14 Oct 2015 09:24:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You cannot do this from a button in the application. This is either an OS command or a browser command. Different browsers have different mechanisms for opening new windows. In IE for example I often use ctrl+k to create a clone of the current window, then press the 'newsession' link in the top right-hand corner to link that new window to a separate session. This allows me to access different parts of the application at the same time.