I tested this using an mp4 file without issue. This is what I had in my code:

$this->fieldspec['video_id']       = array('type' => 'string',
                                    'size' => 255,
                                    'subtype' => 'video',
                                    'preload' => 'y',
                                    'imageheight' => 360,
                                    'imagewidth' => 640,
                                    'control' => 'filepicker',
                                    'task_id' => 'video(filepicker)');

The file that I loaded in and displayed was called 'videos\mov_bbb.mp4'.
