If you look at the documentation you will see that the 'ignore_if_empty' options can be used in the 'title' element of a report structure file, but for detail reports it is specified in the style file. There is no mention of it being available in the 'multiN' element of a report.

The easiest way to accomplish what you want is to define each line with a different 'multiN' number, such as 'multi1' to 'multi8' instead of 8 lines for a 'multi1'. If you do not want a line to appear in the output then in your _cm_output_multi() method you return nothing. If you return a non-empty array then that 'multiN' line will be printed even if every element is blank.
