Subject: Subsystem in Different Database Systems
Posted by stephenboey on Thu, 25 Jan 2007 17:26:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

An interesting thought came into my mind. Users out there are using many different kinds of database systems.

If it is a relational database, then no problems in integrating with Radicore. Is it really possible to have different subsystems sitting on different types of databases?

How do I make Radicore aware of databases sitting in other database systems?