Toni,

As explained in the other thread I want to open 2 connections in this case to 2 pgsql-databases on the same postgresql server. When I imported the databases (schemas) I only got the schemas of servers[0]. I explained why in my original message.

I think this will also be the case when e.g. accessing a MySQL server as server[0] and a PostgreSQL server as server[1], if they are both on localhost. I think that the current code assumes that different servers are on different hosts.

Regards,

Patrick
