Subject: Re: Primary Key in not complete
Posted by AJM on Wed, 16 May 2007 22:54:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The error message is informing you that the primary key field with the name 'unique_sequence' is not being passed to the child form when you press the navigation button. Have you included that field in the sql query in the parent form?

If your select list only contains the fields which you are actually displaying in the parent form, and you have excluded the primary key because it is not displayed, then it is not available to be passed down to any child form.