Yes, success,

Git it, thank you. It appears my root problem in trying to figure it out was that I was to many versions back in Radicore. Once I solved that, things started to fall into place.

One last question, When I select one record from the inner, the update works fine, but when I select multiple records, only the first one gets updated.

I checked the sql, and it only has the first records unique_sequence value in the 'where'. Should the update4, not pass all selections into the POST?
